After Compliments,

Re: Letter of Acceptance/Award

Research Project Grant: "Building and Analyzing an Efficient and Scalable Arabic Information Retrieval System Based on XML and Semantic Web technologies"

This is in reference to your Research Grant Proposal No. ORG/ICT/11/003 dated 16/May/2011 submitted to The Research Council.

We are pleased to inform you that your final proposal titled above for the Research Grant for the amount of RO. 77,000 (Omani Rial Seventy Seven Thousand Only) as specified in the Research Project Approved Budget, has been accepted by the Research Council subject to the terms and conditions as incorporated into the attached Research Grant Agreement which will be signed soon. The duration of the Research Project is 3 years starting from 29 /April/2012 and ending on 28 /April/2015.

The Research Council looks forward to successful completion of the Research Project.

Your sincerely,

Dr. Hilal Al-Hinai
Secretary General

CC: Research Organization Focal Point

CC: Assistant Secretary General for Programs & Research, TRC

CC: Director of Administration & Finance, TRC

To whom it may concern: Dr. Awny Sayed

Permit me to qualify my comments regarding Dr Awny. I have been in the industrial and academic fields of engineering and IT for 40 years, 30 of which have been in Asian, Oceanic and Middle Eastern countries; the last 15 of which have been as senior management. I have been responsible for the recruitment of hundreds of faculty from diverse cultural and religious backgrounds, for the development of a number of academic departments and programs, and I am a consulting inspector for the British Accreditation Council (BAC).

As Program Director of Information Technology I have known Dr Awny since September 2009 when he joined us as an assistant professor, and was supportive and pleased with his promotion to Associate Professor in 2012. From the onset I comment that Dr Awny is a committed, energetic, and productive academic. We will be disappointed to lose him from faculty, but we have benefited from his abilities for more than 6 years and can only wish him well for his future.

As a teacher Dr Awny uses his communication skills and up-to-date knowledge to engage students. He has taught a number of advanced courses, including final year software project and he is the system coordinator for the final year project for software major. However, he is also capable of teaching successfully at a more basic level, for instance second year Computer Organization and introduction to Dynamic Web. In addition he has further developed his teaching capacity through involvement in diverse courses such as information systems, Java courses, System analysis and Design, software project management, web development, and research methods.

As an academic manager Dr Awny was Head of the Software Major for two years and Head of Scientific Research Department for two years. This is an indication of our confidence in his academic knowledge over our range of software courses, as well as his ability to manage the coordinators of those courses. In addition he was system coordinator of Software project A and Software Project B, a demanding post which requires the organization and development of materials, assessment, and approximately 15 faculty across 5 regionally dispersed campuses. These are no easy tasks and Dr Awny acquitted himself well.

As a researcher, Dr Awny has shown his ambition and self-motivation through the range and quality of his publications. He is a principle Investigator (PI) for a government funded research project (the research council in Oman) entitled “Building an Arabic Search Engine based on RDF and Semantic web”; the project cost is OMR77,000 (US$200,000) distributed over three years. Dr Awny built a research team consisting of full-time academics and sponsored mater degree students. The project progress is on tract and the team publications contribute well to the reputation and development of CAS.

The above is evidence that Dr Awny is a committed academic with much to offer a future employer. As said, we will miss his contributions but wish him all the best, I’m sure he will go far.
